CHICAGO, May 14 (AP)—

Governor's Message For Thanksgiving Day

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 23 (P).—Real costs of New York state will pay that wisdom, vision and fortitude he gives "those guiding our destinies on earth" if they uphold the Thanksgiving proclamation of Governor Lehman.

The people of the state of New York have much reason to be thankful for the blessings which the year now drawing to a close has given. The proclamation issued last night reads: "We have lived in peace and order. We have been spared of pestilence and famine. By the grace of Almighty God we have been strengthened to battle forces of depression and unemployment, that threatened our economic security, and with divine assistance, with courage and determination we can look hopefully to the future."

The state's chief executive then asked "the people of the state to acknowledge the blessings that we have received from a bountiful Creator and to pray that those guiding our destinies on earth may be given the wisdom, the vision and the fortitude to carry out His will for the greater good of all people of this nation."

Milk Code Meeting Here November 29

Henry S. Manley, counsel for the Milk Control Board and the State Department of Agriculture and Markets, will speak at a county-wide meeting of dairymen at the court house in Kingston on Wednesday evening, November 29, at 8:15. He will discuss the proposed milk code for the New York milk shed. The meeting is being arranged by the dairy committee of the Farm Bureau of which C. L. Allen of Kingston, R. D. No. 3, is chairman.

Mr. Manley is the best authority that could be secured to discuss the proposed code. Following his talk here he will go to Washington, representing the New York State Milk Control Board at a hearing on the code. All dairymen of the county and all others interested are invited to attend this meeting. Mr. Manley will be glad to answer questions regarding the code after his talk. Plans are being made for one of the largest gatherings of dairymen ever held in Ulster county. The proposed code is of great importance and will affect every dairymen. The Farm Bureau urges that as many dairymen as possible attend the meeting and get first hand information regarding the code. Plans will also be discussed for having regular monthly meetings of dairymen to discuss various problems as they arise.

Poultrymen Hear Research Address

Dr. K. F. Hilbert of the State School of Agriculture at Farmingdale was the speaker at a regular meeting of the Poultry Club at the court house in Kingston on Wednesday evening. About eighty poultrymen were in attendance and C. H. Weidner, president of the club, was chairman.

Previous to the meeting at the court house, the directors of the club met at the Advance Restaurant for supper, after which the program for the coming five months was arranged. Those present at the directors' meeting were Mr. Weidner, Willis Myers, Frank Aldrich, Kenneth DuBois, A. P. Kaplan, Joseph Solcherg, J. D. Lester, Alfred Porto-Belli and Albert Karst. In December the "Poultry Outlook" will be discussed, in January "Incubation", in February "Buying and Brooding Chicks", and in March the Poultry Exposition will be held.

At the club meeting Dr. Hilbert spoke about the research program at Farmingdale and answered questions. In the afternoon he spoke at a local meeting of poultrymen near Walkkill at the farm of V. K. Garrison.

In addition to the talk by Dr. Hilbert at the court house, A. P. Kaplan, president of the mid-Hudson egg auction, and Carl Delgren, the auction master, spoke about the auction and answered questions regarding it.

Mr. Weidner asked the cooperation of all the members to help secure the appropriation for research work to be conducted by the State Veterinary College and John Miller spoke briefly about attendance at the annual meeting of the Farm Bureau on December 5 to assist in the election of a poultryman on the board of directors.

STAB 14 WHO GIVE ASSAULT CASE TESTIMONY

New York, Nov. 23 (P).—Whole-sale stabbing of witnesses who testified against them in a felonious assault case was charged to two prisoners in the police lineup today.

The men described by police as petty racketeers and bootleggers with a clientele among Finnish and Polish speakings in Harlem and the Bronx, said they were Joseph Late, 43, a baker, and Charles Carlson, 29, an electrician.

Detective Walsh and Majewski, of police headquarters, said that out of eighteen witnesses who appeared before a grand jury in a felonious assault charge against the two men, fourteen had been stabbed in the last few weeks.

The two men were arrested last night. Detective Walsh said that Carlson attacked him and Majewski with a short dagger, which was knocked out of his hand.

Jury Completed.

The jury in the case of The People vs. John Richert, on trial in county court, was completed at 11:20 a. m. at which time a recess was taken until 2 o'clock.

TRIMMINGS EVERY PLACE IN STYLES

For Trimmings in Sweaters and Dresses and Wigs.

For trimmings these days are trimming in sweaters and dresses. If you can think up a sufficiently starting way to wear your fur this fall you'll be in the front row of the fashion parade.

There, far, we haven't seen any fur anklets, shoes, gloves and handbags, all may have their fur trimmings. Evening dresses flatter their fur all over the place.

For trimmings on coats isn't content this year in modestly resigning itself to a simple shawl collar, or cuffs. Oh, no—it has to do something different, such as trailing down the back, from neck to hem, or flying off at tangents in a pompadour bow, or disguising itself as fabric, to make the sleeves or the whole top of a coat.

For instance, a navy blue suede finished woolen coat, unbelted, with slender lines and fabric loops on the dropped shoulder line, achieves a new distance record for fur in its subtle scarf which is looped carefully about the throat, the ends hanging practically to the floor. Several dozen ladies died for this one.

TWO-PIECE DRESS By CHERRY NIMROD

The two piece dress is again a favorite with smart women. This one is of dark green woolen with white revers, vestee and cuffs. The brown kidskin oxford is trimmed with perforations and the hat and gloves are a matching dark brown. The wearing of brown accessories with green costumes and vice versa is becoming a general style movement. Try the combination out for yourself—with your new green coat or dress don an alpine felt hat in brown with a gray little multi-colored feather on it and you will be charmed with results. Of course your footwear must be in matching brown. The new brown kidskin shoes with their decorative perforations and their fancy lacing are unusually attractive this season.

STYLE NOTES

Hair ornaments are the newest note.

Off-forehead hats bespeak a new trend.

Beaded dresses are again in fashion.

The coiffure with curls at the back is still leading.

Plaid knit suits in autumn colors are smart for sports.

Of course you'll be wanting a colorful velvet blouse.

Novel metal touches lend glamor to daytime as well as evening frocks.

Novel Belts, Buttons Add Chic to Daytime Costume

Novel belts and buttons add a chic touch to daytime ensembles. One suit of copper-colored duvetyne, designed with a jacket which nips in slightly at the waist and flares below, is worn with a short-sleeved beige Washa blouse finished with a belt of twisted copper-hued yarn.

A light blue crepe gown, topped by a dark blue velvet coat, is fastened with olive-shaped buttons of deep blue glass.

French Takes Queer Name

"Old Man's Beard" is the name of one new winter frock shown in recent style shows. The dress is a simple black wool model with a surplus neckline edged in shaggy white artificial silk fringe.

New Week

When whipping together ends of lace edging, or making seams in an article of all-over lace, first button-hole stitch the edges, then stitch them firmly with fine cotton. They will be forever secure.

DOGS, CATS AND FROGS

Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, NRA bull dog, went west expecting trouble. To his own astonishment, and almost everybody else's, not one dog cat was thrown at him. When he took the NRA job a few months ago, he announced that "the air would soon be full of dead cats." This was his time to draw a shower of them from disgraced farmers. But there wasn't even a sprinkle.

Not that the blunt general was greeted exactly with a series of love feasts as he faced audiences in the rebellious farm states. His hearers were grim and Missouriian. But their manners were good. They were willing to listen. They did not shout him down, or mob him, or hang him.
 Sometimes they even applauded him,
 as he told them what the government had tried to do for them, what had already been accomplished, and what further relief they might reasonably expect as the big artillery moved into action. His conclusion was that "not 1 per cent of the people have any idea of opposing the government program."

This conclusion might be a little too cheerful. Nevertheless it looks as if agrarian opposition has been exaggerated. Moreover, attention has swung from dead cats to bulldogs. The general innocently told the story of the New York chief who went west because a big butter-and-egg man had told him there were "millions of bullfrogs" right on the edge of his ranch. The chief found that, though it sounded like millions, three bullfrogs were making all the noise. Now, what could Johnson mean by that?

THE RING OF STEEL

France, after long secrecy, has allowed foreign newspapermen to see her new military defenses on her eastern border—probably as a warning to Hitler. They are worth seeing. Along the German frontier she has built, from Holland to Switzerland, the mightiest system of fortifications ever imagined in this belligerent old world. To them, the strongest barriers existing in 1934 were as wooden fences. The biggest cannon were popguns.

If the German Nazis, with their war talk, are really thinking of starting anything, they must see that they cannot break through again that way. Neither is it likely that they can break through to the east, where Poland, with a French-trained army, stands behind stout walls and modern artillery. Germany would find it hard even to break through into Switzerland or Austria or Czechoslovakia, because her armies, however large and well trained, are less equipped than theirs with modern arms, and France and Poland would rush to their rescue with inresistible forces.

As for Germany herself, either France or Poland could wade right through her from almost any point.
 Her western front is wholly unfortified and demilitarized, and nearly all the rest of her territory, as the Versailles treaty required, has had no new defenses since the war. Without modern forts and artillery, she is not only incapable of aggression, but incapable of self-defense. Thus there need be no present fear of Hitler's war threats. It would take time and money for Germany to arm, and menacing efforts to re-arm might be prevented.

CHANCE FOR TEMPERANCE

Since 1912 eight nations have tried some form of national prohibition and then abandoned it. They are the United States, Iceland, Russia, Canada, Sweden, Finland, Norway and Turkey. It is interesting to recall that two others seriously considered prohibition, but never put it over.

New Zealand was one of them.
 Prohibition won at home, but New Zealand also permitted its soldiers still overseas, to vote on the issue.

When their ballots were counted it was found that national prohibition had lost by the narrow margin of 2,964 votes. Denmark was the other country which tackled the problem but finally decided against a national dry law. Its anti-liquor campaign began in 1914 and was kept up for years. In 1929, after a study of conditions in the United States, the Danish prohibition party gave up the fight and stated in its final report:
 "Our age is not sufficiently developed to obey prohibition laws. We urge education in temperance instead."

In this country, just now, public attention is centered on regulating and controlling the liquor traffic and curtailing government revenue from
 it. At the same time, most of us want to see another real beginning made in sane and widespread education for temperance. The rapid process in control that we had made in the 24 years prior to the "noble experiment" has been lost and it will take us more than 24 years to regain our position in furthering true temperance. Yielding to zealots is always disastrous.

"Mulla made Governor of Libya in Africa. Mussolini takes Air and Navy Portfolios." So read the news dispatch. "It is felt that his youth, his energy and his organizing ability will have ample scope in the cabinet, where important and difficult work awaits him." There have been other "chances" who hoped to keep their own places safe by sending, with fulsome compliments, prominent rivals to the public esteem to be governors in Africa or Asia or other places beyond the seas. Sometimes the plan worked. But sometimes satraps or colonies removed from the distractions of the capital found themselves with a good deal of time to think.
 And when men think too much, Shakespeare gave Julius Caesar a word for it.

It would be interesting to find out if there are as many tonsils removed from children as there were a few years ago.

When it was definitely shown that rheumatism was due in many cases to an attack of tonsillitis, and that heart disease very often followed rheumatism, it was only natural that parents and also the medical profession would be anxious to avoid these two serious ailments, and see that infected tonsils were removed.

And even today the removal of tonsils that are frequently inflamed is considered advisable to prevent rheumatism, heart disease, gall bladder and appendix infection and other ailments.

However, there is not the whole-scale removal of tonsils now, just because they are large or because there has been an attack of inflamed throat or tonsillitis.

The general feeling among physicians now is that as the tonsils are needed by children until they get well into their teens, unless they are giving trouble they should not be removed.

In discussing the treatment of tonsilitis Dr. T. B. Layton, London, states that in his opinion there is as yet no local treatment of the tonsils that can compare with removing them by surgery. Large size is no reason for removing tonsils.

The main reason why tonsils should be removed is because of frequent attacks of tonsillitis, and this is more important than the appearance of the tonsil.

Children need this tonsil tissue in their throat, and they do not get tonsilitis in the earlier years of life.
 Therefore, operations on children up to 5, 6, 7, and 8 years of age should not be done unless it cannot possibly be helped, and the need for it is amply proved.

The author thinks the best results come after the age of 12 rather than before.

I believe that most physicians will agree with the above; that is that if there are frequent attacks of tonsillitis at any age the tonsils should come out.

The point is that the tonsils are useful as filters for the air being breathed and to remove poisons from the blood.

Even if they are large, if not obstructing the breathing, they should not be removed. It would appear taken altogether, that fewer tonsils are being removed today than formerly.

FORBIDDEN VALLEY

THEY HAD NO IDEA THAT THEY WERE

 just two young people, a boy and a the Blue Ridge Mountains for a vacation. They had heard that it was a beautiful place, and they had come to see it. They had heard that it was a place where the mountains were so high and the valleys were so deep that the sun never shined on the

FAT PEOPLE CAN REDUCE SAFELY WITHOUT DRUGS

Physician Explains New Safe Scientific Method of Weight Control

According to a well-known medical authority on the dangers of excess weight, it is no longer necessary for fat people to face the problems of reducing with revulsion and fear. Speaking over Station KYW this prominent physician said that dieting, the bane of many a fat person's life and which often results in lowered vitality, can be dispensed with, as can strenuous exercises. Dangerous drugs, such as thyroid (unless taken under direction of a competent physician) should be avoided, as well as all other drastic reducing methods.

"Now it is absurd for anyone," he continued, "to take dangerous drugs or a daily dose of drastic salts that rushes food through the body half digested and leads to chronic constipation. Vannay, a convenient sugar-coated tablet, is the safe, natural regulator of the digestive ferments (Lipases) which control the production of fat in all human bodies."

"You don't have to starve yourself or go through painful exercises. You simply take the tablets each day and continue to eat three meals. The fat disappears at just the places where you want to lose it."

Any of our clerks will be glad to give you an interesting booklet, "How to Reduce With Absolute Safety." This remarkable product is on sale at Bedrick's Drug Store—Advt.

The annual gathering has made the Chicago background above familiar to many farmers and cattlemen over the country. Twelve thousand head of prime stock are expected for this year's judging.

FRANCIS PHILLIPS TOLD OF HIS TRIP

The past summer seven Kingston boys and a boy from New York City availed themselves of the plan of the Thorne-Loomis Foundation, and a camping trip through industrial America. Wednesday evening Francis Phillips and Walter Fromer, two of the local boys who made the trip, were the guests of the Men's Club of the Roundout Presbyterian Church and Mr. Phillips told of his experiences during the 5,500 mile trip. The eight boys had a fine time judging from the speaker and visited Canada and were as far south as New Orleans and Florida. They also spent three days at the Century of Progress in Chicago, and in Detroit saw how Ford assembled a car in an hour in the big auto plant there. The boys ran into fine weather during the entire six weeks they were away and met with no mishaps along the road. They had three flat tires in the entire trip, and it cost them exactly $40 each for the six weeks. This amount was for food, gas and oil for the truck, and for paying for the use of camping sites when they stopped for the night. The boys did their own cooking and washing. During the evening the club was entertained with a number of baritone solos by Martin Kelly, assisted at the piano by Billy Williams.

The supper committee served a fine repast.

President W. C. Kingman appointed Clarence S. Rowland, Prof. Arthur H. Russell and H. L. Van Deusen a nominating committee to recommend new officers and to submit their report at the December meeting of the club.

Howe About:

Virtues of Quietness Selfishness
Good Americans

By ED HOWE

THERE is much to be said for this quietness so highly recommended. If a man talks a great deal in trying to fool me, I can usually make a good guess as to what he is really up to.

The man not selfish is insane; puts his hand in the fire, whereas sane people know burning is the worst pain there is, and handle fire with caution. Lately a man committed a terrible crime in a school house. The neighbors saturated the school house with coal oil, tied the criminal on the roof, and burned it. . . . The man was clearly insane, and unable to understand the simple law of crime and punishment, cause and effect.

One might think, from the number of Abe Lincoln memorials that America never had more than three or four really good men in it. . . . I have myself known thousands of really good Americans.

I live in a Kansas town, with Missouri, where saloons have been set up. Just across a river bridge. I lately visited one of these saloons, as a matter of curiosity. More women than men were present. The place was as orderly and clean as a Sunday school picnic serving only lemonade. . . . Let me record that never before have I seen men and women I knew to be respectable mingling freely in an open saloon. It is another of the new things now so common in the United States.

It has long been said a stingy man is always prosperous; that he never lets his money get away from him, etc. . . . I know a man who has been famous for stinginess forty years; my best stingy-man story is about him. But I personally know the depression got him; he hasn't a penny left.

I have the natural human disposition to hover around the mysterious, the new, the unknown, but in considering them during a long life, have learned caution, and wonder others have not.

I have been unable to decide on the best man I have ever known. Sometimes I think he is a noted publisher of magazines I have associated with intimately. . . . At other times I think he may be a colored man who works about my yard. Again I consider an eminent physician I have long known; at other times I consider a carrier who delivers my mail, and a grocer who sells me supplies.

I am able to get along fairly well with anybody, or anything, except the politicians, who so persistently insult decency and common sense, and demand that I cheer them.

Americans were once a great people. Are we through? Cannot we do something to get back? But we can't do it with relief for the old shiftlessness that ruined us. . . . Must we go to the devil to meet the prediction of some trifling man who has written a book, or made a speech?

As far back as I can remember everybody has been longing to see everybody punished. . . . Well, for once we have all had our way; I know of no one who is escaping punishment now.

"I can't see that he is very smart," those of us in the audience say of those on the platform. . . . (So far as that goes, none of us are. That's what's the matter with us.)

I am a careless man, but in presence of natural gas, a railway crossing, a gun, or women, I am able to exercise considerable caution.

The story of neglect of old soldiers does not come entirely, or mainly, from the veterans themselves. Back of every soldier is a half dozen or more relatives who further enlarge the story of his wrongs, and spread it into every nook and corner where a taxpayer may be influenced by patriotism or sympathy. . . . Office holders are also a vast army, and have a large number of relatives and friends back of them clamoring for still greater waste. . . . Almost every one who votes is supporting a relative or a friend entrenched at the public crib.

The thirst for the blood of the rich has been enormous as far back as I can remember, but seems to be fiercer now than ever before.

If the long-expected rioting finally breaks out this winter (somehow the worst is always expected in winter) the flow of blood will at least be much less than would have been the case during the winter of 1928, or during any future period of prosperity. . . . There are almost no rich left now to shoot at.

Arthur Brisbane said over the radio one night that the almost universal wiping out of millionaires by the Wall Street sharks was really a good thing for the republic, as it would compel these smart fellows to go back to work, and, in making more millions, they might give the employment necessary in bringing back prosperity. . . . So I am almost reconciled to the worst this winter, and having it over with.

Bronchial Troubles

Need Circulation

Permanent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Circulation, an established remedy that is pleasant to take. Circulation is a new medical discovery with two-fold action. It soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, Circulation is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Circulation restores, in addition to circulate, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the circulate goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, and attacks the seat of the trouble.

Circulation is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, influenza, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Your own druggist is authorized to refund your money on the spot if your cough or cold is not relieved by Circulation.

Dutch Elm Disease May Destroy All the Elm Trees in New York

Attacked by the danger of that Dutch elm disease, of which the elm bark beetle, or Scolytus, is the carrier, may destroy all the elm trees in New York state, as well as in other states, just as effectively blight practically killed off the elm trees, Commissioner Charles H. Baldwin, of the Department of Agriculture and Markets, has directed cooperation with the United States Department of Agriculture and New Jersey officials in a plan for eradication or control.

At the direction of Commissioner Baldwin a telegram was dispatched to Henry A. Wallace, federal secretary of agriculture, asking the secretary what the federal department plans to do with regard to this disease of elm trees and what it expects New York state to do.

Conferences have been held in the offices of the department with representatives of the Department of Conservation, State College of Agriculture and Agricultural Experiment Station at Geneva present. B. D. Van Buren, director of the Bureau of Plant Industry of the Department of Agriculture and Markets, Henry L. McIntyre, superintendent of Forest Pest Control, and Dr. L. M. Massey, of the New York State College of Agriculture, were named as a committee to make plans for the control of the disease, estimate the amount of money necessary to carry out plans, and to cooperate with federal officials.

Commissioner Baldwin stated that if the disease of elm trees progresses as it has in Europe it bids fair to wipe out a large part, if not all, of the elm trees in the United States. Inasmuch as this is a national emergency Commissioner Baldwin pointed out that the eradication might well be largely financed through federal funds.

Mr. Van Buren stated that about 60 trees have been found infected in New York state and that those trees are in a territory of about 750 square miles, covering greater New York, part of Nassau and Westchester counties, Staten Island and the western end of Long Island. At conferences held in the offices of the department it has been the general agreement that eradication may be possible.

The eradication program calls for the taking out of all diseased trees promptly and the "scouting" of all elms two or three times each year so that infected trees may be removed, as well as branches, and that clean-up measures be established.

The Dutch elm disease, so named because it was first found in Holland, was first discovered in this country in Cleveland and Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1930. In addition to this, trees stricken with the disease have been found in Connecticut, Maryland and New Jersey. Entomologists believe that the elm bark beetle is a carrier of the disease and that the establishment of the disease in this country resulted from an importation of infected elm logs from European countries.

The first sign of the disease is a sudden wilting of leaves on branches. The foliage turns yellow and brown before falling, or the leaves may remain green and cling to the twigs. The entire tree may wilt soon after and be killed in one season, or it may die slowly, different parts showing wilted leaves in successive seasons. The yellowing of the foliage on twigs or branches is easily seen in mid-summer. Trees infected by the Dutch elm disease often become generally sickly, producing a weak growth, under-sized foliage, and an abundance of suckers on the trunk.

The only reliable method to determine whether the disease has attacked trees is to get small twigs, about six inches long and the size of a pencil, and send them for culture to the Bartlett Tree Research Laboratory, Stamford, Connecticut, or to the Dutch Elm Disease Laboratory, Wooster, Ohio. All elms are susceptible to the disease, the Chinese or Siberian elm being resistant, although it may serve as a source of infection.

The disease, according to Mr. Van Buren, has worked havoc in Holland where it first appeared. Magnificent elm stands in several sections of Holland, Germany, Belgium and France have been destroyed.

Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON—When recent events in Cuba added to the uncertainty of government there, observers in Washington began speculating as to the possible effect the situation may have on prospects for success of the U. S. delegation at the Pan-American conference convening December 1 in Montevideo. President Roosevelt and his advisers have been looking to this gathering as an occasion for cementing the political and economic friendship of the United States with the Latin American nations. The administration has been anxious to have the conference succeed, and has been working to have the conference succeed, and has been working to have the conference succeed.

Should the appearance of central authority which has been maintained by the present Cuban regime be disrupted, the devoted specter of intervention will be seen again. Treaty obligations to keep order in the island republic rest on the government of the United States.

Beware of A Slip

SINCE early August, when President Harding fled from Cuba, Washington has endeavored to let Cuba solve its own problems without interference from the outside. The administration even had entered into a treaty with Cuba for an early return to normal conditions in the island.

The Latin American press, generally, as well as public opinion, has applauded what has been described as this country's display of "advanced diplomacy."

At the same time, however, it has been clear that the Latin American countries have not relaxed for a moment their vigilance to see what will be the result. One slip, it is agreed, would be sufficient to alter completely the attitude of the other American countries toward the United States.

Evidence of this is to be had in the fact that Argentina went so far as to send a delegation to the Pan-American conference through Ambassador Felipe Ycaza, that intervention should be avoided at all costs. Should President Roosevelt and his advisers be exposed to criticism from every Latin American quarter at Montevideo, but from those European countries which capitalize on every tactical error, real or imagined, in the American policy toward its southern neighbors.

A Tender Spot

It should be remembered that it is not the effect, but the cause of potential intervention in Cuba which disturbs Latin America.

The Platt amendment to the Cuban constitution, which charges the United States with responsibility for maintaining order in the island, is a sore spot south of the Rio Grande as well as in certain quarters of this country.

The complaint is that it is politically immoral and the basis of an improper relationship between two sovereign states.

Senator Pittman of Nevada, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, crusades openly for the scrapping of the Platt amendment. Others have urged that it be modified to save the United States from an anomalous position when intervention appears necessary.

FASHIONS By ELEANOR GUNN

Hats Form New Alliances

Copyright, 1933, by Fairchild

A set of beret and scarf in mixture wools in brown with fine diagonal is shown at top; the scarf is held at front by a large clip of blond tortoise shell. Another set, hat and gloves, is shown at right; the toque is in shawl brown serpent skin with a diadem effect relieved by a semi-circle of gold metal; the gloves are in brown antelope with ruffie of serpent on the side. The last model is in rust-colored felt with a tropical bird trimming in shades of yellow-shaded to dark green.

Thoroughbred Fashions Have a Pedigree

New York—Now is the time to observe what the smart young things have from here and there for the week-end are wearing. It's wool, of course, varied by velvets or corduroy, and how they have gone for the higher bodies idea.

The arrangement shown is a very popular one, for the bandana or handkerchief idea has never really gone out, and now is definitely in, both daytime and evening. The evening interpretations are, as usual, sparkling with sequins or some such, but the handkerchief neckline by day is made of anything, but most often is made of velvet. The younger set also have gone in solidly for jokers, and many of them prefer them at the back only.

We do not need the sponsorship of the haute couture to make us continue to wear tweeds. It is a tweed year if ever there was one, and no girl with a well-balanced wardrobe is without either a tweed coat or suit. She also numbers something knitted among her frocks or suits, and is sure to have acquired a fur cape or neckpiece to top all these fashion "mouls."

Word from Paris is to the effect that the Brugere collection features bright navy called "gendarme blue," bright green called "Jeune Pousse," meaning "bud," and approaching emerald. Manyray mixtures, especially in hairy fabrics, also bright reds.

The mannequins wear interesting off-face toques inspired by Anne of Cleves headpiece and other Holbein portraits, while occasional similar reminiscences are observed in necklines or sleeves of dresses and miter band trimmings.

A Firm Stand on Brogues

At outdoor events recently the interest of the smart woman in a low heeled, sturdy looking, decorative outdoor shoe has been a revelation, since these were the very women who previously were totering about Piping Rock and Meadowbrook turf in their spike heel delicate oxfords.

This year they are wearing some calf and lots of oose finished—possibly reversed calf—leathers in leather or heeled built up types, among the newest looking of which is the wide-sabot strap pump, and the wide strap, high riding buckled shoe. The biggest model from point of numbers has been the monk type, buckling on the side as distinguished from the center buckling type which appears in street wear. Trimming is restrained, the cut of the shoe serving as decoration.

Eggs Actly What To Rooney's Chicks

Being an Accurate and Informative Account of a Thrilling Adventure in England Substantiated Upon After Deep Study.

In times such as the present about the only thing that can lay down on the job and produce is a hen.

By such reasoning, I was led into the intricate art of egg raising. I accidentally called together a coop, installed the necessary furniture and consulted catalogues.

By comparing charts, analyzing formulas and studying tables, I learned that leghorns eat less, produce more but are eaten less and produce less white meat.

My subsequent experience proved that in order to succeed in the egg business, hindsight rather than foresight is essential, so not unlike the expectant mother, I studied the subject thoroughly prior to the advent of the first hatch. I built up an intensive preparatory background by two years of diligent reading of magazines featuring only, "Poultry—Its Vices and Lures".

I absorbed assorted information on mash, mashers, water and gangle tablets and how to circumvent pink tooth brush.

Taking seriously all the information set forth in a specially edited pamphlet of some 500 pages, constituted my first error. On pages 363 to 402 inclusive, I was introduced to Coccidiosis, Histomonas, Aelurosis and B. O. Interrelated were full page illustrations showing proper methods employed in holding insects. Diagrams designating the easiest slices, the length of incision were included.

If instructions are followed, it will be noted that the bird is dead and that the glazord holds the answer.

If a breed could be produced and put together with sippers a daily glimpse into the capillary system would be possible.

The following is a true record of my experience on receipt of the container containing the first instalment of one-day-olds.

Removed cover and inspected the birds. They appeared to be shaken but effervescent. That is all but one. This chap was deflated and had evidently been stepped on. Believing same to be asleep, placed same on the ground. It fell over. Concluded it was dead and threw same in garbage hole, omitting post mortem as per page 406.

Set tables and arranged mash as instructed on page 10. Filled out front and inverted. Bottom fell out. Re-filled, inverted with care. Chicks drank fill with one foot on rail. Hopper completely ignored. To discourage Ghandi sentiment, pushed a few heads into hopper. Achieved moderate success measured by the fact that chicks stood with both feet planted in one hole and ate lustily out of the adjoining hole.

Found temperature run down.

Forst Employees Tells Of Holdup

Lighted the oil stove borrowed for the occasion from the office. Chicks disappeared under head but soon came forth complaining. Placed two thermometers on the floor. Found each registered differently so struck a mean note.

Removed table equipment and set no door to await retirement of chicks. All appeared too modest or something, seemed to prefer standing on each other. Picked one up and stopped it under hopper. It stayed there, solving what threatened to be a major problem.

Applied formula to the balance. Re-filled Kerosene stove and set with. Re-placed feed hopper. Closed door to return in two hours. Found coop thick with smoke and most adhering to walls, windows and ceiling.

The Little Rhode Island rooster had changed from yellow to black. Rushed to house and dug up food. Found nothing regarding removal of stool.

Next morning, woke to a subconscience wall of terror. Hurried to the coop only to find the interior again blotted out. Gave vent to feelings by kicking off stove in the wick. Consulted book for diarrhoea. Found a chapter on white, another on red but none on black.

Decided something definite must be done about oil smoke. Borrowed an electric brooder. Ran cable out to the coop after figuring the maximum strain. Neglected to compute strain in the small of the back. Corrected same with liniment. Current turned on at 7:02 p. m. This contraption is supposed to have intelligence. It is equipped with a thermostat. Set indicator for 100 degrees and watched for the little red light to go out. It worked amid much consternation. Waited for the excitement to abate, then sat down and watched for the little red light to go out. It did. Became skeptical as to whether it would light again so sat down and waited. It did. Not yet assured, thought perhaps it might fail to go out. It did. Played this game till 10 p. m. Six a. m. watched chicks emerge from steam heated hothouse and stretch. Gave indication of finding their abode preferable to a park bench. Fed and watered. Attempted census. Counted up to 60 with 10 over. Took record. Talled 20 over 50. Accepted the original count made by shipper.

My chicks are now five days old. The mortality is zero, the birth rate is constant but there are yet no eggs.

near Orr's Mills that Trooper Quinn was first seen in his car driving toward them. Snyder swore that Weinstein said to Napolitano "Jesus go straight, there's a trooper right behind you" and that Napolitano who was making a turn into a side road stopped and backed out and straightened out onto the main road again and that just before the trooper passed that Napolitano said to Snyder: "You keep your yap shut or you'll get it first."

They had not driven very far after Trooper Quinn had passed when they saw the trooper standing in the middle of the road ahead of them and ordering them to stop. Napolitano did so, and the trooper asked him for his license.

Napolitano made pretense of searching through his pockets and told the trooper that he had changed his clothes and must have left it in his other clothes. The trooper then told Napolitano to follow him.

"We swung around," said Snyder, "and started to follow the trooper's car when Napolitano said, 'Hell with this car' and that he started to swing the car around and it ran into a stone wall."

"Here's where I scream," said Napolitano, as he jumped from the car as it hit the wall and Snyder said that as Napolitano started running away he saw that Napolitano had a gun in his right hand.

Weinstein got out of the car and walked up and down the road until the trooper returned with Napolitano when he ordered Weinstein back into the car. Later a farm hand drove the LaSalle with Snyder, Napolitano and Weinstein in it to the police barracks at Monroe. The trooper's car followed close behind.

Cross examination by Mr. Cook failed to shake Snyder's story.

"Job Was Planned"

Chief Wood was called by Mr. Cook and questioned. The chief said that Weinstein had talked freely, and that his confession had been taken down but that Weinstein had refused to sign although Weinstein, the chief swore, had stated that it was true.

According to the chief Weinstein had met Bergel about four months before the holdup and Bergel had questioned him about the Forst plant payroll and they decided it was a chance to get some easy money.

A month before the holdup Napolitano entered the picture. The three men had several conferences and Weinstein's wife had arguments with her husband over Bergel and Napolitano calling him so often on the telephone. Weinstein, according to the chief, told that he had a job in New York which paid him $20 a week, and he had gone into the job of holding up the Forst employees as it looked like easy money.

Met In Restaurant
Chief Wood said that Weinstein said that the morning of the holdup the three men had met in Weinstein's restaurant on the White Plains road in New York, and had driven to Kingston. First they drove down to the Forst plant and looked it over and then they drove up town to the Kingston Trust Company on Main street where they saw the Forst couple standing outside the bank.

They followed it down to Hoge street when they forced it into the curb.

At the close of the testimony Mr. Cook moved to dismiss the charge of kidnapping against Weinstein but his motion was denied. Weinstein was then arraigned on the grand larceny charge in connection with the holdup and waived examination as he did also on the robbery charge and was held to await grand jury action, bail to be fixed by the county court.

New Pastor Greeted At Baptist Church

Rev. Clarence E. Brown and his family given warm reception at Wurts Street Baptist Church Tuesday evening.

A large gathering that filled the church chapel to capacity was present at the reception to the new pastor, the Rev. Clarence E. Brown, and his family at the Wurts Street Baptist Church Tuesday evening. The church was very prettily decorated with flowers from Burgevin's. The committee had worked hard to make the occasion a success and the splendid spirit of fellowship that was manifested in the efforts that were put forth by them.

The chairman and presiding officer, Dwight L. McEntee, chairman of the board of trustees, who read several letters from former pastors and members of the church who were not able to be present. He welcomed the new pastor and introduced those who were present to assist in the evening's entertainment. Mrs. Williams, organ soloist of the church, gave two groups of solos which were more appreciated, her splendid voice being heard to advantage. Augustus, tenor soloist of St. John's Episcopal Church, also rendered two songs, singing as one of his numbers, "Hills of Home", a special request of the new pastor. The solos were accompanied by Mrs. Augustus Franz.

Dr. Boeve, of the First Dutch Church, president of the Kingston Ministerial Association, gave a very inspiring message on the "Challenge of Christian Manhood". It was a powerful address and stressed the need of more men of character in the work of the Kingdom of God. While his words were addressed to men of the church it was a message that made a deep and lasting effect on all those present. He extended the greetings of the Old Dutch Church as well as the Ministerial Association to the new pastor in his new field of service.

Dr. Deming, of Trinity M. E. Church, spoke of the fine spirit of comradeship which exists between the churches in the downtown section of Kingston and gave the greetings for this group of churches. He mentioned his early training in the skill school, and stressed the fact that he always would have a warm spot in his heart for anyone coming from Catskill. His remarks were very well received.

Dr. Armstrong of the Rondout Presbyterian Church was introduced, but as he had just entered from a long drive, hurrying home to be present at the occasion, he was at a loss for a moment as to what to say but in his usual gracious and pleasing manner he welcomed Dr. Brown and his family to Kingston and predicted a fine period of growth in the church during the years to come.

Editor Speaks.
One of the surprise speakers of the evening was J. W. Frankel of Rutgers, editor of the "Saugerties Star" and a warm personal friend of the new pastor and his family. In his usual fine style with numerous witty and humorous remarks he told of the years of association and friendship with the new pastor during the time when Dr. Brown was affiliated with the New York State Christian Endeavor Union as one of its state officers. He told how that friendship had grown with the years and how it was largely through his efforts that the church was led to consider the pastor and his family for this field which, he said, was a distinct honor for the church. He brought the greetings of the Hudson River Central Association, with which he has long been connected. Chairman McEntee introduced Flord W. Powell, whom he facetiously referred to as "Judge" Powell, who brought the welcome of the family. His remarks were so well chosen and stated the occasion so well that those present were inspired as he appealed to them for a new advance in loyalty and cooperation for the Wurts Street Baptist Church. He paid a high and splendid tribute to Dr. Brown and his family and concluded his remarks with an offer to place a united and loyal church behind their new pastor in the program of Christian work and service in the congregation.

In a few well chosen words Mrs. Brown expressed her appreciation for the fine welcome extended them and said that she and her family looked forward to a happy time in this field.

The concluding remarks were made by the new pastor thanking those who had so graciously shared in the welcome to his family and himself, and pledged every effort to carry on the work well.

After his remarks all those present greeted Mr. Brown and his family. Refreshments were served by the ladies of the Philanthropic Class of which Mrs. Brown is the teacher. Those who were assisting in the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. Floyd W. Powell, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight L. McEntee, Sr., and Mrs. Harry C. Madden.

MAHON RUNS INTO MUCH MORE TROUBLE

Joseph Mahon, 25, who for some time past has made his home at Highland, seems to be close friends with Old Man Trouble. October 26 he was discharged from the Ulster county jail, after serving a 20 days sentence imposed by Justice Walter Hasbrouck on a petit larceny charge, following the theft of an old car. The first part of this week he was arrested by Yonkers police for breaking into a gasoline station and is now being held on a charge of burglary. In addition to this he is wanted on a charge of breaking into the Riverside Garage at Highland, about November 1 and stealing the contents of a telephone coin box. Sergeant Lockhart and Trooper Baker went to Yonkers Tuesday and secured a signed statement from Mahon admitting his guilt in the Riverside Garage affair.

Too Much Advantage For Defense Say Gridders

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, Nov. 23 (AP)—Although there are equally as sharp differences among the players as exist among the coaches, a substantial majority of college football stars polled by The Associated Press is convinced the present gridiron rules give the defense too much advantage.

The tabulation of country-wide opinion today reveals that 37 players out of a total of 65 think the defense has a more or less decided "edge". Of the others 18 believe the game is now evenly divided as to opportunities for both sides while the remaining 10 consider the advantage rests with the offense.

The majority is somewhat striking inasmuch as the only important change in the rules for 1933, designed to eliminate the out-of-bounds play along the sidelines, favors the offense. However, it apparently reflects the general reaction to this year's unusually low scoring among major teams as well as a conviction among the players that the offense is severely handicapped by the rule which automatically stops the ball-carrier if any part of his body except his hands or feet touches the ground.

The Reasons
Specific reasons cited otherwise for the defensive advantage include these:

George Cantrius, end, St. Mary's: "Officials are too vigorous in enforcing rules on offense and too lax on enforcing on defense. They are too strict on the one second stop on shift plays."

Al Dowd, captain and center, Santa Clara: "Seems unjust that a big 230-pound defensive tackle should be allowed to use his hands on a 170-pound end on offense."

Lee Carlin, captain, George Washington: "Due to rules on dead ball and those applying to passes, defense has slight advantage."

Sam Davis, captain, Florida:

Colonials Tounce Hebrew Five, 35-18

The Kingston Colonial Alley Five scored its second straight win at the Glasco School gym Wednesday by touncing the Hebrew-Americans of Kingston, substituting for Rosendale, in a one-sided contest that ended 35-18. At halftime the Colonials were out in front 17-2.

Hank Krum with nine points led the scoring attack of the winners. Next in line with seven apiece were Rivenbergh and Van Etten. Basch and Rosenberg made four apiece for the Hebrews.

Tonight the Hebrews go to Malden for a game with the Malden A. C. and on Monday will open their home season at the Downtown Jewish Community Center.

Ruth May Possibly Manage Newark Team

New York Newspaper Thinks That it May Be Experience Basis for Future Yankee Management by The Famous Babe.

Newark, N. J., Nov. 23 (AP)—The News says today that Babe Ruth has been offered the job of managing the Newark Bears of the International League and that there is a "fifty-fifty chance he will accept."

The News said it had received its information from a "source very close to the internal affairs of the American League."

"Ruth has been offered the job," the paper said, "and until he turns it down nothing will be done about offering a contract to any of the others who have been given consideration, chief of whom is Bill Meyer of Birmingham."

The paper adds that back of the move to have the great slugger of the New York Yankees take the post made vacant by the release of Al Mamaux "is a desire in the Yankee organization to have Ruth as manager of the New York American League club, after he had demonstrated his managerial ability elsewhere."

The Newark team is the No. 1 farm of the Yankee system.

Army in Excellent Condition for Navy

West Point, Nov. 23.—Fully realizing its opponent's strength, Army's football squad is being sent through the most strenuous workouts of the season in its daily practice sessions in preparation for Saturday's game with Navy at Franklin Field, Philadelphia. The entire squad is in excellent physical condition and will be at full strength Saturday according to Lt. Garrison H. Davidson, head coach.

A football rally was held last night in Washington Hall. With enthusiasm high this rally was undoubtedly the most rousing of the season. All officers stationed at West Point formed in front of the Officers' Club and headed by the Military Academy Band marched in a body to the Mess Hall to join the cadets. Speeches, cheers and songs were included in the evening's entertainment.

The team left West Point immediately after a light workout this afternoon and will arrive in Philadelphia at 10 p. m., staying at Pine Valley Golf Club until Saturday morning.

WEST PARK ACCIDENT

WEDNESDAY EVENING

Carlo Valli, 20, of West Park, was injured and his car demolished, when he ran into the rear of a truck belonging to a man named McIntosh, from Unadilla. The accident occurred about 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, on Route 9-W, near the entrance gates to the Col. Payne estate, at West Park. Valli, who was driving toward Kingston, was taken to the office of Dr. G. W. Ross at Port Ewen, where he was treated for cuts about the head. The truck sustained little damage.

Co-Eds Smoke in Private.

Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 23 (AP)—Fire prevention and good taste have led Syracuse University co-eds to cease smoking on the campus following an order by the Women's Student Court. Miss Phyllis Phillips, the court's chief justice, said the court does not object to smoking in living quarters, permitted by the university.

Bruck's Stone Ridgers Tounce Liberty, 28-19

Before one of the largest crowds ever watched Stone Ridge open basketball season at R. W. A. High Falls, the Peckham, under the direction of Manager Pete Bruck, inaugurated their 1933-34 schedule by touncing the Liberty Emeralds, 28-19, Wednesday night.

Victor Knoll, elongated center of the Ridgers, featured in the point guard role. He tossed the ball through the hoop for six fields and fouls, a total of 13. Bob Cullen and Van Dusen were sent in minutes in the last half, substituting for Van Dusen. Barkov and Hodge did the heaviest scoring for Liberty.

Most of the point making was done in the second half, the first being 7-3 in favor of Liberty. Prior to the half, while the only one Ridge points scored were made on a field by Knoll and Hodge and a foul by Wood. Next Wednesday the Bruckmen will entertain Cornwall Big Five at W. S. Hall. Wakefield Pros Will Play Yellow Jackets

Opponents of the Yellow Jackets at the Kingston Fair Grounds Sunday afternoon will be the Wakefield Pros. Manager Ken Dyson of the Pros announced today explaining that he thought the local gridders would have a tough time staying with the New York combination which has defeated some strong eleven.

Among the teams defeated by Wakefield are the Fordham A. C. which trimmed the Yellow Jackets 14-6 in their inaugural at the Fair Grounds; Peekskill Inter-Nats, All Southern Collegiate, Brooklyn Pros, Paterson A. C. and the Stapleton Pros of the National Football League. It is the intention of the Yellow Jackets to play harder than ever against the Wakefield boys in order to win and fortify themselves for their Thanksgiving Day clash at Poughkeepsie with the Bridge City Club which they took over earlier this season at the Fair Grounds.

Manager Dyson is trying to make arrangements for the Yellow Jackets and Hedges of Newburgh to meet up town on Sunday afternoon, December 3, to settle the 7-7 tie which they played last week.

Impellittere Loses To Tommy Loughran

Having Commission Head Overlooked Referee in Ordering Bout to Continue Despite Cut on Loughran's Face—The "Imp" Not Ready For Take Chances Yet.

New York, Nov. 22 (AP).—With the aid of one of the most surprising actions ever taken in a New York ring, Tommy Loughran, the veteran boxer from Philadelphia, has demonstrated that the young giant, Ray Impellittere, isn't ready to become a heavyweight title contender yet.

The big moment of the battle, which otherwise was mostly a demonstration of Loughran's well known boxing skill, came in the sixth round. A right uppercut caught his mouth and cut it badly. Referee Pete Harley wasted no time about halting the proceedings. After one look at the stream of blood pouring down Loughran's chest he raised Impellittere's hand in token of victory.

At this point General John J. Phelan, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission took a hand. Fighting his way through the howling crowd of 6,000 to the ring-side, he ordered the fight continued. No one at the ringside could recall a similar situation in which a commissioner had over-ruled a referee. Tommy was patched up between rounds and promptly lit into his overzealous opponent and never stopped punching until the fight ended.

The "Imp", however, showed surprisingly sound boxing form. He jabbed his long left at Tommy's face, used his right uppercut well at times and made the Philadelphia open up with every bit of his best boxing to get anywhere.

Loughran weighed 155½ pounds, Impellittere 255½.

Spinny's Meet Bearded Beauts In Try For Sixth Straight

Friday night at Pythian Hall, Port Ewen, the Spinny Five will try to ring up its sixth straight victory, meeting as opponents in the basketball attraction there the Bearded Beauts of Pepper Martin, one of the best known semi-pro players on the road.

So far the Port Eweners have defeated the Middletown Hoopsters, St. John's of Goshen, Rosendale Firemen and the Sargeants Bigelows, twice. They count strongly on taking over the Bearded experts, but this task should prove harder than any yet tackled by the Spinnymen, according to the reputation the boys of Pepper Martin enjoy.

Manager Alanson Short of the home club will use his regulars against the highly rated invaders. In the forefront will be Bun Chilson and "Bing" Van Ertzen, Hank Krom will jump center; Dan Joyce, right guard and Al Short, left guard. This is the way the team from across the creek stacked up for its fray with the St. John's of Goshen. Jack Short will be in reserve.

Pepper Martin will have his first string men on hand for the battle, including "Butsey" Collins, star guard, formerly of the Detroit Clowns and House of David.

Starting time of the game is 8:30. There will be a preliminary between the Port Ewen Aces and Pine Hill, starting at 7:30. This attraction is expected to vie with the feature for the spotlight. Both teams are anxious to win.

Following the games there will be dancing.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

CLUB Bolton, baseball backstop and pinch-hitter of the Washington Senators, will be best remembered for a time to come as the man who hit into a double play in the crucial eleventh inning of the fourth world series game with the bases full and the Nats only one run behind the Giants.

No other maneuver by the American League champions came in for better criticism than this particular bit of "strategy." Manager Joe Cronin still is being second-guessed on that play but the official league statistics are out now to prove that Joe had real justification for his selection of Bolton to face Hubbell even though the catcher was notoriously slow and under the further handicap of hitting from the port side against the best southpaw in the big leagues.

Had Nats Average.

Bolton topped all the American League pinch-hitters for 1933, but no doubt he would gladly have yielded that distinction in exchange for a world series home-hit. In 21 times at bat as a pinch-hitter during the regular season, CLUB walked four times, collected 10 hits and drove in four runs for a percentage of .355.

Dave Harris, Washington outfielder who was already in the game as a pinch-hitter, replaced Bolton at the time Bolton came to bat in the world series, topped the pinch-hitters during the season with ten runs batted in. Harris showed an average of .40 as an emergency hitter.

The best pinch-hitters on the other clubs, according to the figures turned out by Henry P. Edwards, were: Chicago, Red Kress, .400; Detroit, Jo-Jo White, .385; Boston, Smokey Jolley, .333; Philadelphia, Eric McNair, .313; Cleveland, Pow-

Sauce For the Fox

The action of the Chicago White Sox in re-shaping the playing field as Comiskey Park to reduce the home run range in left and center fields for Al Simmons will be welcomed, likewise, by the other big right-handed batsmen of the American League, notably Jimmie Foxx.

Jimmie hits 'em higher and farther than Al, but anything calculated to improve the target for his long range wallop will be appreciated.

Baseball men recall that the Boston Braves, after acquiring Rogers Hornsby some years ago, fixed up their grounds with outfield bleachers for the benefit of the Rajah's drives.

It was a good idea, theoretically, but Hornsby failed to take as much advantage of the opportunity for home runs as did the visiting slugger. So the Braves took out the extra seats and then parted company with the one-time king of National League batsmen.

Nichols Wants County C. of C.

The question of reorganizing a real Chamber of Commerce for Kingston is an excellent idea. However it would produce more results if made a county proposition, with a reasonable, small membership fee, so as to include any Uterite who was willing to help build up our county and by co-ordinating all societies into one group, it would reduce sectional animosities, since no part of Uter can progress by isolation.

No real business executive can be induced to locate his industries here, if by investigation, he finds that the city or county is torn apart by political prejudices, which like the fight in the city of New York might involve his investment or jeopardize his business by unwarranted taxes or levies. Strip that New York city affair of its political angle and you will find that New York city paid handsomely, in fees to local lawyers from their clients, who were paid not only for property taken, but for every conceivable "loss of business." What would probably be of more financial value to those who lost property by recent flood, is a good "windfall."

storm and tornado." Insurance policies often state the political faction did not consider that angle and also to testify that in certain fire insurance policies in a clause that is to the effect that if a flood or some other natural destroyed part of a building and fire then occurred, the only part payable is what actually burned. The local insurance agent can explain this to him that is his business and he would probably be of more help to his neighbors in the dam area than a politician. While on revival of business from outside source, this is an example for home development of processes.

To get industry here, we must make small gold facts and be prepared to back up every promise made, since the object is to retain over a long period of years at least 90 per cent of industries so located, of the better class, to whom the stock selling racket is objectionable. There are sounder ways to meet that angle. This is of utmost importance to every one who seeks employment here, as well as to taxpayers who with houses rented, can meet their obligations. It is far more important to all of us than we find work of a permanent nature for our unemployed, than is the clamor of the small group for "bonuses," whose main thought is to sonal greed and who are mostly the same as the prominent prohibition mob. This is an important fact to be considered by the industrialist, who will analyze the question as to what regulations he will enact to guarantee his employer's remaining temperate.

One can visualize the potential leadership of Kingston if it had municipal owned docks and ocean going steamers making the city a regular port of call with mixed cargoes, etc. Consider also it already has electric passenger and local freight service and the railroad practically at its door, while good roads abound everywhere in Ulster, as well as a types of industrial sites.

It is a healthy sign that reveals that there are plenty of sincere folk in Ulster, who are willing to carry out the duties of citizenship, despite the obstacles, who, in the case of Kingston, lost no time to find out how to get Federal aid and went out to get that assistance so as to relieve the burden of local taxpayers as well as to put its idle men to work while other methods are worked out.

In relation to Chamber of Commerce what would have been accomplished by a co-ordinated solid Ulster county body working for one idea? As an example for study, there are in the high rental districts of New York, hundreds of responsible millionaires and hat concerns, employing thousands of men and women. Say plant to house a number of them on a co-operative basis on the plan of Bush Terminal? It would naturally bring other allied trades dependent upon that industry. Perhaps few of us know that recently the Larling Singer Sewing Machine plant at Ellerslie, N. J., was seriously considering a change of location? In these times of upheaval in all lines, the wise towns are laying their plans to be ready for normal return of business. It cannot be done overnight. So far as Rosendale is concerned, we have not lost my faith in that the rural cement industry, which our town nourished successfully, will again revive itself, if it remains what nature

...would produce more results if made a county proposition, with a reasonable, small membership fee, so as to include any Ulsterite who was willing to help build up our county and by co-ordinating all sections into one group, it would reduce sectional animosities, since no part of Ulster can progress by isolation.

By a series of study as to what each section is particularly fitted for and a well defined program mapped out to bring that section to its goal, whether industrially or agriculturally, all Ulster would benefit. By co-operation with various taxpayers groups, the government of Ulster county could be made a matter of simple knowledge for everyone, as to how and why it functions. From a positive non-partisan basis, it could take political trickery out of the board of supervisors and make it operate on a sound basis of business efficiency, and by a close check on appropriations, insure that every dollar spent shall produce permanent value, rather than for political expediency. It is high time for all of us to understand that the officials are public servants and that because of certain party alliance they are not to believe that the electorate cannot remove them under penalty of reprisal. We need a shakeup once in a while to take the conceit out of some who feel that the electorate is not qualified intelligently to understand public affairs and from which public the cold facts have been withheld or distorted. We need new blood and the laying down of all cards, face up.

No real business executive can be induced to locate his industry here, if by investigation, he finds that the city or county is torn apart by political prejudices, which like the fight in the city of New York might involve his investment or jeopardize his business by unwarranted taxes or levies. Strip that New York city affair of its political angle and you will find that the New York city handsomely in fees to local lawyers from their clients, who were paid no money for property taken, but for every conceivable "loss of business." What would probably be of more financial value to those who lost property by recent flood, is a good "wind storm and tornado" insurance policy. Strange the political faction did not consider that angle and also to tell them that in certain fire insurance policies in a clause that is to the effect that if a flood or some other as destroyed part of a building and fire then occurred, the only part payable was what actually burned. The local insurance agent can explain this and that is his business and he would probably be of more help to his neighbors in the dam area than a politician. While on revival of business from outside source, this is an example for home development of present possessions.

To get industry here, we must make cold facts and be prepared to back up every promise made, since the object is to retain over a long period of years at least 90 per cent of industries so located, of the better class, to whom the stock selling racket is objectionable. There are sounder ways to meet that angle. This of utmost importance to every one who seeks employment here, as well as to taxpayers who with houses rented, can meet their obligations. It is far more important to all of us that we find work of a permanent nature for our unemployed, than is the clamor of the small group for "booze," whose main thought is personal greed and who are mostly the same inbred prohibition mob. This is an important fact to be considered by the industrialist, who will analyze the question as to what regulations will exist to guarantee his employment remaining temperate.

Can one visualize the potential leadership of Kingston if it had municipal owned docks and ocean going steamers making the city a regular port of call with mixed cargoes, etc. Consider also it already has river passenger and local freight service, and the railroad practically at the door, while good roads abound everywhere in Ulster, as well as a types of industrial sites.

It is a healthy sign that reveals that there are plenty of sincere folk in Ulster, who are willing to carry out despite the obstacles, who, in the case of Kingston, lost no time to find out how to get Federal aid and went out to get that assistance so as to relieve the burden of local taxpayers as well as to put its idle men to work with other methods are worked out.

In relation to Chamber of Commerce what would have been accomplished by a co-ordinated solid Ulster county body working for one idea. As an example for study, there are in the high rental districts of New York, hundreds of responsible millinery and hat concerns, employing thousands of men and women. Suppose in Kingston we could provide plant to house a number of them on a co-operative basis on the plan of Bush Terminal? It would naturally bring other allied trades dependent upon that industry. Perhaps few Ulster know that recently the large Alboth, N. J., was seriously considering a change of location? In the times of upheaval in all lines, these times towns are laying their plans to be ready for normal return of business. It cannot be done overnight. So far as Rosendale is concerned, have not lost my faith in that the natural cement industry, which once flourished successfully, will again revive itself, if it remains what nature intended it to be—a natural cement.

guarantee of Ulmer county's idle men and women, as well as a prompt revival of business for all of us, that critic should resign from his or her public job, instead of using taxpayers' money or banking funds in a situation of deep public concern in which they are not willing to cooperate as they should. Perhaps public opinion may force that issue openly shortly.

Without prejudice and based on solid facts the quicker the nation separates the professional politician from participation and control of banking facilities the better for business. No one can deny that such an alliance is a dangerous precedent, especially in a small county, where it can flatten out a business venture overnight and difficult for anyone without sufficient wealth to trace the cause to its source. In view of what has been recorded at U. S. Senate hearings it is certain that the banking profession should, to regain public confidence, maintain a strictly high code of banking ethics in the handling and investment of other people's money.

As a matter of general interest to the business man as well as to the man in the street, it might interest them to know that the Federal Reserve Bank is practically a private corporation and owned by the bankers of the nation, who are the stockholders. There is a concrete comparison as to what politics can do to that system. It reads very plainly, in section 7 of the Federal Reserve Banking Act, passed by Congress in 1913 that after the Federal Reserve Bank pays its dividends to stockholders the balance of its net earnings shall be paid to the U. S. Government as franchise tax.

Now read section 4 of the Banking Act passed by Congress in 1933 which practically amends Section of the 1913 act. The new law is that "the net earnings shall be paid into the surplus fund of the Federal Reserve Bank." In 1913 the government received the net earnings, but today it has no claim. If you want more definite data write to your local congressman.

If any of the foregoing statements can prove of any value to those to Ulster who want to see our county prosper and its people contented, a gainful employment, and who want

"AMERICAN"

Marches Ahead!

and who's behind the line of march!

IT'S who is behind "AMERICAN" MARCHES AHEAD—and what it means to you—that counts!

Let's look at the facts!

The American Oil Company is an important member of the Pan American Petroleum & Transport Company group, a major factor in the oil industry. Principal companies of this group are:

American Oil Company
Mexican Petroleum Corporation (Mo.)
Pan American Refining Company
Pan American Pipeline Company
Mexican Petroleum Corporation of Georgia
Lord Baltimore Filling Stations, Inc.

These companies represent one of the large and important oil units of the country. Very big resources, large available crude production and extensive pipe line systems, refineries, complete research laboratories, large tank car and motor truck fleets, numerous ocean terminals, many hundreds of bulk plants, and thousands of service station outlets.

Where and How They Serve

In addition to its refining and allied activities, Pan American Petroleum & Transport Company, through its various companies named above, does an extensive business along the entire Atlantic Seaboard, from Maine to Florida, and elsewhere. They market a big volume of various petroleum products—motor fuel, gasoline, lubricants, kerosene, range oil, heating oils, heavy fuel oils and asphalt. A complete petroleum service!

Maine to Florida!

One of the companies, the Mexican Petroleum Corporation, is one of the largest sellers of heavy fuel oils in the United States. It numbers among its customers a host of nationally important concerns. Likewise, Mexican Petroleum Corporation is the second largest producer of asphalt on the Atlantic Coast. Because of its great scientific knowledge of heavy fuel oils and asphalt requirements, Mexican Petroleum Corporation will continue to handle this important phase of the group's activities.

The American Oil Company is an outstanding institution of public service in its old territory. Its growth and development form an illuminating chapter in the history of American enterprise. Our next announcement will tell more about the American Oil Company itself.

The American Oil Company direct and through subsidiaries, is taking over and will in the future operate all the marketing facilities of the consolidated companies in Northern New Jersey, New York and New England, Georgia and Florida. This includes the many bulk storage plants, service stations, pump and tank outlets in this vast region. These it will improve, remodel and modernize. For American service must be worthy of the name!

But above all, the coming of American means that hereafter its famous products—among them AMOCO-GAS, the original special motor fuel; Orange American Gas, the best gasoline selling at regular gas price; and AMOCO Motor Oils—will be available along the entire Atlantic Seaboard, from Maine to Florida, and elsewhere. And that means new fuel economies to motorists in our new territory* and extended service to motorists of our old territory*.

Now you know who's behind—and what's behind—the pump!
